

Guitar "wah-wah" Effect

This is essentially a low-Q bandpass filter with the cutoff frequency determined by a potentiometer. By placing the pot in a foot-operated pedal, guitarists can use the "wah-wah" effect for expression.

The poles of the filter sweep from about 390Hz to 1700kHz corresponding to a 0 to 100% rotation of the 50k pot.